AWNING ACTUALIZER

Project Manager

Are you someone who likes to take a concept and figure out how to make it into a physical reality? Do you enjoy getting away from your desk, measuring and assessing job sites, then taking what you have observed back to the office to envision and draw up an entirely new structure? Do you have the experience and common sense to foresee building challenges in advance and the ingenuity to overcome them?

The Company:

Thatcher Oaks, Inc. is the largest, most respected awning manufacturer in Chicagoland and our work is the face of nearly all of the area's most notable establishments. You have seen our finished products, not only in person, but in the commercials, television shows and movies filmed in and around Chicago. Because we are the best and biggest, we are consistently hired by the finest companies in Chicago. Next time you are under an impressive awning or canopy, look up and see our tag!

The Job:

We are looking for versatile thinker, who can manage individual projects from the time of sale to the point of production. This person will meet with the sales reps to understand the job and customer's expectations, visit the site to take exact measurements and create the drawings that our production staff will use to build the awning system.

The Requirements:

- Have the ability to work on a ladder, take precise measurements and have a clean driving history
- Have knowledge, experience and understanding of structural integrity (i.e. carpentry, framing, building, etc.)
- Have computer competency (use of Microsoft Office programs and simple CAD drawing experience)
- Have the ability to work independently and also interact professionally with colleagues and customers

The Perks:

Despite our top-dog position in the third largest American marketplace, we have been family owned and operated since we opened our doors over thirty years ago. We are proud to be a local manufacturing business and we are even more proud of our incredible community of employees. Over half our staff has worked at Thatcher Oaks for more than ten years, several for more than twenty. We offer fair pay, great health and retirement benefits, paid vacation and a work environment where everyone is heard and has the opportunity to advance within the company.
